An infant child of John McKim died Tuesday of Whooping Cough

A daughter of Mrs. Chapman, in Prestonville, died Wednesday morning with Pneumonia, having been sick only a few days. She was about ten years old.

Mr. James Ellis, of this place, and Miss Addie Tuell, of Indiana, were married at Allen McCann's Thursday, by Rev. T. J. Godbey. The bride is a sister of Rev. Levi Short's wife, lately deceased and lately came here. She had visited Mr. Short's family several times and is known to many of our people. She is spoken of as a pleasant and agreeable lady. They are living at Mr. Ellis' house on High street.

Dr. John Atotten of Trimble was married January 1st, Mrs. Anna V. Ballard, of Louisville, becoming his bride.

Miss Bettie Helburn, of Eminence, and Mrs. D. A. Sachs, of Louisville, Ky., were married at Eminence, on the night of December the 26th, 188e. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Moses, at the residence of the bride's mother.

Mr. John L. McFetridge, Jr., managing editor of the Madison Daily Star, died in that city on the 28th of December of Brain fever. He was a young man of culture and education, a brilliant writer and an agreeable and popular gentleman. He is a loss to his city and to Indiana journalism.

Our Christmas, though begun happily had a sad ending. Our Brother, Emmet Gullions' little daughter, Jennie, died on the 27th after a short illness with congestion of the lungs. Her age was about three years five months and she was his only child. She was a bright and beautiful little girl, the light joy and life of the household and had always been stout and healthy. The sorrow and grief of the family cannot be expressed in words; only those who have sustained a similar loss can imagine their feelings. An obituary written by a friend is published in another column.

Column 4: Died. December 27th, 1883, of congestion of the lungs, Jennie, daughter of J. E. and Mollie Gullion, aged three years and five months. Truly, there is a vacancy, and heaviness of heart in another home. There is a broken link; a weeping over blighted hopes. She was the first baby, the only child. She brought to loving ones many treasure of joy. In the household she had become a well spring of pleasure, a sunbeam, a voice of perpetual gladness. Her life was short but from it may be learned, lessons of purity, sincerely of faith. It opened up in many hearts a gushing, ever ebbing tide of affection. The tender Shepherd knew her full well and thought her too pure and fair to dwell where the storms of life forever lower, and to shield her from the blast. He, with tender compassion, removed her to Heaven, and is she not wrapped in garments of white, warbling songs of celestial joy.

We note the following marriages: Mr. Ike Harsin and Miss Egerton; Charlie Bowman and Miss Dellie Taylor; E. B. Spillman and Miss Mollie Prichard.

Mrs. John King died suddenly last Friday, and was buried at the cemetery on Wm. Bradley's farm, Sunday. She had the measles, and arose from her bed at 3 o'clock in the morning, and sat up until about 10 o'clock, and at 12 o'clock was dead. Exposing herself to the cold probably caused the measles to go to her lungs. Mrs. King before her marriage, a few years ago, lived in the upper end of the county. Mr. King, who is a brother to Wm. Bradley's wife was himself quite sick, and is now dangerously ill.

Later— John S. King died Wednesday, January 2, and was buried Thursday. He was the husband of the above-mentioned lady. He, too, had the measles, but had been in feeble health some time, the measles being the supplemental to the ravages of consumption, which disease is hereditary in his family. He was about 60 years old.

Locust: Little Charlie son of J. Madison Conway, died last Saturday morning and was buried, Sunday, in the cemetery on the farm of Richard Conway. He was nearly six years old, and had had the measles, which developed into pneumonia. He was an exceptionally handsome bright little boy, and a general favorite. Little Charlie has passed over into the beautiful border-land and is one of the brightest angels among the "happy band" who sings anthems there; yet, the loving father and mother are overwhelmed with sorrow at the loss of the precious little gem of their home.

Column 5

Upper White's Run: Mr. William J. Spicer and Miss Frankie Davis, both of Upper Whites Run, were married in Louisville Thursday. Though the wedding has been frequently spoken of it was a considerable surprise. We are sorry that we have none of the particulars. Miss Frankie is well known as one of our most cultured and educated young lady and is much admired and esteemed. Mrs. Spicer is a very worthy young man with pluck and intelligence. We bespeak for them much happiness.

An infant child of Charley Chasteen died Thursday and was buried yesterday in Odd Fellows cemetery.

We have to record another death from whooping cough and bronchitis, that of an infant child of John Logeman, aged about five months. It died last Saturday and was buried Sunday. The number of deaths from this disease this winter has caused whooping cough to be looked upon as a fearful scourge. Little tender babes of two months and on up to the age of five years have fallen victims till the list numbers largely over a dozen.

The family and friends of Mrs. J. L. Ritchie were saddened by the news of the death, on last Monday night, of her little daughter, seven months old, which occurred in Albia, Iowa. Mr. Ritchie the father, was here visiting his mother-in-law, Mrs. R. T. Jett, and frequent letters during last week announcing that all was well at home made the telegram of Tuesday fall with crushing effect. We deeply sympathize with the bereft parents

We unintentionally omitted noting in our last issue the death of Mr. Wm. Carver which occurred on Dec. 21st – He was recovering from the dangerous and difficult operation which he underwent a few weeks ago, but contracted pneumonia of which he died. The "Warsaw Independent" published in Mrs. Carver's native county, speaks thus feeling of him. "He was a man of tender sympathies, his big heart being always susceptible to the appeals of a distressed friend or acquaintance. He treated himself with less charity than he did any one else." His age was about 48, his remains were taken to Warsaw and the funeral took place from the residence of his brother John Carver, he was buried in the Odd Fellows cemetery. Mr. Carver leaves a wife but no children.

A little child of W. A. Barker, of Hunters Bottom, ages a few months, was burned to death last Saturday. The mother, a daughter of Mr. Moffet, near Milton, while visiting her father's, left the child lying in the cradle before a wood fire while she went down stairs. In a little while one of the family going into the room discovered the clothing to be on fire, but before the flames could be extinguished the little one was so badly burned that it died in a few hours.

Wedding Bells: John Brittenback and Miss Mary Victoria Taylor were married at the residence of the bride's father, Marion Taylor, last Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, Elder C. T. Roberts performing the ceremony. Although it was in "the morning early," and the weather severely cold, quite a number of relatives and friends assembled to witness the nuptials and to congratulate the young couple upon having prosecuted a successful courtship which culminated in a happy marriage. The bride wore a blue dress trimmed with white lace, and a wreath of orange blossoms entwined her brow. The groom was conspicuously handsome in a suit of conventional black. Immediately after the ceremony and receiving of congratulations the young couple went to Madison, where they took a train for Aurora and Cincinnati. They also contemplated visiting other places, among, them Petersburg and Bellevue, in this State.

Liberty Station - Column 2: Ira Jones, a blacksmith, at Eagle Station, died last Saturday. He was taken ill on the Wednesday preceding his demise.

James Lang lost a twelve-year-old son, Monday. He did of pneumonia and was buried Wednesday. He has another son quite sick with the same disease.

The much-talked-of wedding of O. F. Argus and Miss Lucy Shepherd came off last Tuesday, and still a good many were surprised. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home on High street, at o'clock in the afternoon, by Rev. E. Kirtley, of Vevay, in the presence of a number of friends and relatives. They left on the bus that afternoon for Cincinnati, where they were guests of Abb Myrick, R. T. Bell and other friends, and returned to town Thursday night. They went to housekeeping at once in the John Gardner house on east Main, which the groom had furnished nicely before assuming the bond matrimonial. The bride is a most estimable young lady with many friends. The groom is a sober, industrious and pure-hearted young man and enjoys much popularity. We are glad he has done well. Our warmest congratulations are extended and we trust that the future has in store for them an abundance of happiness and prosperity.

T. Baker, of this place.

Willis H. Tandy of this county and Miss Mattie Tandy of Trimble county were married Thursday morning at 11 o'clock at the residence of the bride's father, Milton Tandy, several miles back of Milton. The high contracting parties accompanied by Misses Dee and Ella Giltner of Hunters Bottom, John Jesse, and sister of New Castle, Roger Tandy of the county and Thomas George and Charley Tandy, brothers of the bride, came up by land and remained here over night, most of them stopping at that popular hostelry, the National hotel. In the evening the party were called on my Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Giltner, Noble Pryor, Misses Nettie and Nannie Darling and others, making one of the merriest parties that have filled the hotel parlors in many a day. On Friday the happy caravan proceeded to Whites Run where an elegant reception was to be given last night by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tandy. Of course there was a general good time but we have no report of it. From all accounts Willis has had fine luck, his bride being spoken of as a superior woman, handsome intelligent and agreeable.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Geier on last Sunday morning lost their little daughter, Frederika. She had been sick only a short while with pneumonia, but was suffering at the time with whooping cough, and it was the complication which placed her recovery beyond the power of medical skill. Frederika was a most lovable little child. Remarkably precocious and bright, she was the light and life of the home—the center of many fond hopes, now blasted. Her age was 23 months and 28 days. After religious exercises at the house on Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. T. J. Godbey, the interment took place in Odd Fellows' cemetery.

On Wednesday Milton Lansberry, a farmer who lived on Ogburn hill, a few miles east of town, was frozen to death at a point, a few hundred yards above the Ogburn stone house, on the road leading up the hill. He had been to town during the day and had been drinking. Before night he sent a little son, home whom he had with him saying that he would follow after a while. Just before dark he was seen by a neighbor heading the back water on his way home, near where his body was found, but he was never more see alive. He probably lay down to sleep and, the weather turning suddenly cold, it was a fatal sleep. The body, was found next morning. His wife supposed that he would take care of himself in town, as he had done many times before. She had no one to send after him that dark night, anyway. The remains were interred in Odd Fellow's cemetery here on yesterday. Mt. Lansberry was seventy odd years old. [Family records say that he fell and hit his head and was unable to get up.]

Jeff, son of Rev. T. J. Godbey, died at his home Friday afternoon at one o'clock. He was about 19 years old. He had been afflicted for several years and his death was not unexpected. As we go to press final arrangements have not been made for the funeral.

Vevay Times: Mrs. Charles Seiglitz and Miss Maggie Heady were married Wednesday night, February 27, 1884, at 4 o'clock at the residence of George Anderson, Craig Township.

Column 2: News of the death of Capt. Att Rennick, who died at Denver, Colorado, on last Sunday, was received here Monday and was a great shock to his many friends. It was known that he had been in ill health for some time but all remember what a powerful man he was, only a few years back and could hardly realize that he had fallen before the grim monster. Mr. Rennick's wife, nee Miss Bettie Dean of this county, was in the state of Ohio at the time of her husband's death, being an invalid herself and under the treatment of a physician. She left immediately for Denver and was joined in St. Louis, Monday by her brother, Geo. S. Dean, of this county. We have heard no particulars except that the cause of death was inflammation of the brain. Capt. Rennick was a genial and clever gentleman, kind and generous to a fault; he made many friends and enjoyed great popularity. The Kentucky Yeoman published at Frankfort, the birth place of the deceased speaks of him as follows:

He was a son of the late Col. A. H. Rennick, who was a soldier in the war of 1812, and for many years clerk of the Franklin county court. He was also a brother of Mrs. James M. Todd, of this city, and of Mrs. R. K. Woodson, of the county. Born and reared at Frankfort, he was well known to everybody, and esteemed by all for his generous, manly qualities, his loyalty to friends and his unblemished integrity. He was a man of very strong character and by his own exertions had achieved a fortune. He was one of the owners of the celebrated Vulture mine, at Leadville, and a few years ago sold his interest for about $80,000. At the time of his death he was engaged in business at Denver. Captain Rennick was an officer in the Confederate army, his nativity Franklin County, Kentucky

Column 2: The death of Little Mary Pryor on last Sunday evening was a sad ending to months of suffering, endured by her with wonderful fortitude. After the loss of her limb she rallied from the shock of amputation and was in a fair way to recover, was even driven out several times, and was often seen in the wheeled chair, her face rosy with hue of returning health and her bright eyes beaming with the joy of recovery. But alas, her strength soon failed and for weeks she has borne her intense suffering with patient sweetness, and at last yielded up the young life that had been so full of pain, without a feeling of fear, glad, it seemed to be released from her terrible sufferings. Her sister, Miss Katie, was summoned from Arkansas, and arrived in time for the funeral, as did also her brother, Parker, whose home, for a few months past, has been in Nicholasville. Rev. T. J. Godbey conducted the funeral services at the Presbyterian Church on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, after which the interment took place in Odd Fellows' cemetery. Little Mary united with the Presbyterian church last summer under Rev. Dr. E. O. Guerrant. Her age, when she died, was about 13 years. She was a bright and promising child and was loved by all around her.

Page 1 Column 3 Liberty Station: E. M. Barrett and Miss Katie O'Donnel, both of this vicinity, eloped on the 4th inst., to Cincinnati, where they were married. They were accompanied by Minor Ferguson, Wm. Ford and Mrs. John Dunn, the latter Mr. Barrett's sister. Mr. Barrett is a substantial gentleman. Miss Katie is a handsome young lady of about 18 years and is worthy of any man. Our best wishes are for their future happiness.

On the 6th inst., at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Deatherage, Miss Maggie V. Deatherage was united in marriage to John Weldon of near Warsaw, Elder John Hile officiating. The bride wore a new gold satin dress, trimmed to suit, and a hat to match, though trimmed in a darker shade of plumes, and she looked lovely. The groom wore the usual black. Their attendants, Miss Katie Lewellyn and Cyrus Furnish, were attired to suit the occasion, and they too looked handsome. After the ceremony and congratulations the parties repaired to the dining hall where a supper consisting of everything known to be good to eat [sic] awaited them. Fully a hundred guests eat to the full satisfaction of their appetites. It was an elegant wedding, though one not at all looked for, for the courtship of the high contracting parties had been kept as private as possible. Now that they are married, we extended our best wishes for their unalloyed connubial felicity, while they journey through the isles of the unknown future.

Column 4: Charles Ferrian died at his home Saturday night, February 23d, 1884. He had been in ill health for some months. He came to this country some thirty-five years ago from England. His remains were interred at the old Sulphur Fork church. He was in his 66th year.

Parker Pryor, who came from Nicholasville, on account of the death of his sister last week, will remain here.

Column 2 We are sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. E. H. Smith, which occurred Friday morning, near Prestonville, after a protracted illness. The funeral will take place from the residence Sunday at half past one o'clock. Mrs. Smith was a daughter of Uncle Elijah Webster, and was held in great esteem. She leaves a husband and some children to mourn her loss.

It is with a deep feeling of sadness that we announce the death of Mrs. Wm. F. Brown who was laid to rest Friday in Odd Fellows cemetery the, concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives, attesting the respect and love in which she was held. She died of pneumonia Wednesday at 3 o'clock after a week's illness, at the home of her son-in-law, H. J. Whitehead near town. Her hitherto good health and the flattering prospects for a long life which she seemed to have caused the blow to come with terrible force to relatives and friends. The funeral was preached by Rev. T. J. Godbey. Thus in the very prime of life, has passed away this tender wife, loving mother, genial friend and Christian woman. Mrs. Brown was a sister of Mr. J. H. Carraco of this county, was married when quite young, over 44 years ago to Mr. Brown, and shortly after united with the Methodist Church of which she remained a faithful member all her life. Hers was an exceptionally happy married life, her home always a model of neatness, a haven of peace for children and grandchildren. Among the friends from a distance, who were here to attend the last sad rites, were Captain Neare and wife and Mrs. Katie Donaldson and son, of Cincinnati, the ladies being nieces of Mrs. Brown.

Column 3 Tom Coghill died of heart disease at Robert Coghill's, on King's ridge, Thursday evening. He was a young man and leaves a wife and children.

Mrs. Eliza M. Carlisle, a very estimable woman, wife of S. S. Carlisle, who lives near Prestonville, died Monday night after one week's illness with pneumonia. The funeral took place Wednesday. She had, previous to this sickness, enjoyed good health, and hence her sudden death was a great shock to family and friends. Her age was 41 years last January. Before marriage she was Miss Mendenhall, of Vevay.

Page 6 Column 5 The case of John Tingle vs. The Adams Express Company, lately pending in the Circuit Court at Carrollton, has just been decided for plaintiff. The plaintiff brought suit to recover $678.12, which sum, in an envelope addressed to him, was mysteriously lost from the company's office at English Station last July, where it had been received from Louisville. The case involved many nice points. The plaintiff was represented by Joseph Blackwell, Warren Montfort and Thomas J. McElrath; the defendant by Judge Wilson, of Cincinnati, and by R. W. Masterson, John S. Gaunt and W. M. Fisher.

Joseph Andrews, from New Mexico, was her Tuesday and Wednesday on a visit to his sister, Mrs. Jas. F. Jett.

There was sort of family reunion at John Hogan's last Saturday and Sunday. Ed was up from Louisville and Dave and family were there from Madison. It may be depended upon that the fatted calf was killed and that it was a happy time.

Mr. Charles F. Argus died last Saturday morning between 8 and 9 o'clock. He had been ailing for some time but had been confined to his bed only a few days. He was about 71 years of age and was remarkably active for one so old. He had been living here two years, having come from Madison. His remains were taken to that city for interment. He was the father of Otto F. Argus and Mrs. Henry Wolfe.

Miss Annie M. Grasmick, formerly of this place, but for three years past of Louisville, died in that city last Saturday at 2:45, p.m., after an illness of only four days with inflammatory rheumatism. Her sudden death was a great shock to her relatives and numerous friends here. She was 28 years old on the 24th of last December, and previous to this ailment has been in excellent health. She was a daughter of Peter Grasmick, Sr., and was very popular with all who knew her. One of the saddest features connected with her death is the fact that she was to be married soon to Mr. William Weisinger, of Louisville, who was at her bed-side when she died and was greatly affected. The remains were brought here on the mail boat Sunday night. Funeral services were held Monday by Rev. Father Schmid, after which the interment took place in the Catholic burying ground. The family are profoundly thankful to Mr. and Mrs. N. Clore, with whom the deceased resided, and to other inmates of the house, for their uniform kindness toward her. Among those who attended the funeral from a distance were Messrs. Wm. Weissinger and Fred Reese, of Louisville; Wm. H. Plater and Miss Louisa Pister, of Cincinnati, and others.

Worthville: Miss Julia Bourne, quite a charming young lady of Ghent, who has been visiting her uncle, Joseph Ellis', for the past five weeks, returned home Tuesday.

Although not unexpected, the community was much relieved Sunday to hear of the death of John Henry Hunt. He was an estimable young man about 28 years old, and liked by everybody, which was attested by the large concourse of people that attended his burial Monday evening. He had been sick several months with consumption. His young wife and aged mother were both very sick at the time of his death and still are at this writing. It was one year lacking one day since his brother George died with the same disease.

Page 4, Column 1. The town of Ghent was thrown into much excitement Tuesday by the elopement and marriage of John J. Lester and Miss Nannie Stevenson, a sixteen year old daughter of J. H. Stevenson one of the most prominent men of the town. They went over the river to Vevay together in the afternoon where a minister was in waiting to pronounce the words which join their destinies, immediately on their arrival. Mr. Stevenson was in hot pursuit and, had not all arrangements been made before hand, would have overtaken the fleeing couple and summarily interfered with their scheme. The happy pair at once drove to Markland, where they expected to take the mail boat for Cincinnati, but a runner followed and informed them that the "bereaved parental ancestor" of the bride still pursued; whereupon they drove on and crossed the raging Ohio to Warsaw, at which place they took another hack and went to Sparta, expecting to board the train but missing the connection, they remained there all night and returned next day to Ghent, where they are now boarding.John is a most excellent young man, is a partner with G. L. Howard in the drug business, and deserved a good wife.

Returning with his credentials, he was much chagrined to find that in his absence his promised bride had wedded his rival. Young Kemper immediately sold out and turned his face westward.

A very sad death was that of Daniel Haines, one of the county's best citizens, who was killed by lightning on his farm on Whites Run about two miles above Whites Run bridge last Tuesday afternoon; and the death has been the principal subject of conversation since it occurred. Mr. Haines left his house after dinner and went to his work about a quarter of a mile distant, being engaged in clearing some bushes and briars from a piece of ground; and not returning at dark his two little girls went to the house of Willima Strickland, a neighbor, and notified him who in company with George S. Wood and others of the neighborhood, took lanterns, the night being very dark and made a search After four hours.. He was found about 11 o'clock. Squire Asbury Ames being immediately sent for went and held an inquest, the jury returning this verdict:

“We the jury find that the dead body now before us is that of Daniel Haines, of Carroll County, Ky., and we believe the deceased was killed on the evening of April 15, 1884, by a stroke of lightning, while he was out on his farm at work.” The remains were interred Wednesday afternoon at the Haines burying ground on John Langstaff's farm. ...at the time of his death was in his 46th year. A wife and two little girls aged at and 10 survive..

Column 4: Last Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock Richard W. Searcy was married to Miss Mary, the charming daughter of William Montgomery; all the parties living on Buffalo, three miles above Worthville. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's parents by Elder H. W. Elliott in his usual happy and impressive manner, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends who had assembled to witness the nuptials and wish them God speed as they set sail upon the sea of matrimony. Soon after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Searcy drove to Worthville and took the train for Louisville, where they remained all night at Alexanders Hotel, proceeding next day to Mammoth cave, remaining there two days and thence they returned home to go to housekeeping. They boarded the train at Worthville in the midst of shouts and the ringing of bells and the blowing of steam whistles—all in honor of the happy pair. May the groom live many years to enjoy the bliss of the matrimonial state—which he has been somewhat dilatory about entering—and may both find rare flowers ever springing in their pathway as they go hand in hand down the hill of life.

Column 3: The following is from John W. Peckham dated at Cincinnati, July 16th: You will find enclosed a clipping from Commercial Gazette of July 15th 1884, in regard to George Poland's sad death, and he being from Carrollton, and being well known there. I send it to you and was buried at Ever-green cemetery, Newport, Ky. Ira Pope of Prestonville and myself following poor George to his last resting place:

"The body of George Pland, the young man who was drowned in the Ohio River opposite Brown's coal landing near the mouth of the little Miama River, last Friday evening, about 7 o'clock, was recovered yesterday morning and towed to the foot of Washington avenue, this city, where Coroner R. A. Dameron proceeded to hold an inquest. The testimony showed that the deceased was a young man, and employed as fireman on the towboat W. R. Cole. Last Friday evening, about 7 o'clock, while towing a barge of stone and one loaded with brick up the river, there were met by the steamer "Ohio" on its way to Cincinnati. The pilot of the Cole sounded the signal whistle for the approaching steamer to slack up, as his barges were too heavily loaded to encounter the waves. The pilot of the "Ohio" did not heed the signal, so it is stated, until he was opposite the up-river boat. Young Poland, noticing the large waves, grabbed a couple of boards and rushed out on the barge loaded with brick, for the purpose of covering the hatches to prevent the swells, as they washed over the boat, from running into the hold. He called to one of the crew to start the pumps. At this period a large wave struck the barge, breaking it into causing it to sink immediately taking with it the unfortunate young man. Mr. Harvey Poland, the father of the deceased, hired Mr. J. V. Ehrhart, a marine diver of Cincinnati, who yesterday recovered the body. Mr. Ehrhart said that he found one of the young man's legs mashed between two timbers, and so fast that it was necessary to saw the timber to extricate the body. The jury in the case were not satisfied with the testimony, as they wanted to hear from the Captain of the Cole, and also the pilot. They therefore disagreed. The Coroner will summon another jury and obtain the above evidence as soon as possible. The body was taken in charge by Smith & White, and will be buried today. It is though some blame will be attached to the pilot of the Ohio for not slacking up when the signal was given."

Locust, James and Mora Coghill lost their little babe last Sunday. It being only five or six months old, the loss of the littler girl cherub, is peculiarly sad and unexpected bereavement to the parents, who are thus left with the one little boy on earth while the little girl, already an angel, has gone to join the angelic throng in the Summer Land of Son.

Wes. Brunton stole a march on this innocent and unsuspecting community, Locust, in broad day light, Thursday of last week. With his father, Jonathan Brunton, two sisters and a brother or so, forming a part of the procession, rapidly drove to Carrollton where according to previous arrangement, Miss Jennie Carter, at her home was ready, waiting and willing to take the young man, Wesley for better or worse. The knot was tied by Rev. Pitman and Wes returned home, early in the day, a married man.

Page 5: Column 3: Death of Willie Hafford. Willie Hafford's sudden death last Monday was a terrible shock. The physicians say that the cause of his death was an apoplectic seizure. Willie was the only son, Charlie a younger one, having been drowned something like three years ago, and it seems very hard that both sons should meet such sudden and violent deaths. Willie, who was 24 years old, was an enterprising and energetic young man and was a partner with his father, E. Hafford, in the saw-mill business. The death is all the more sad from the fact that he was engaged to be married this fall. Funeral services were held at the house Wednesday afternoon. Interment took place in Odd Fellows' cemetery.

Last Sunday night an event occurred at Louis Dedrick's in this place which produced more or less surprise as folks in general had not "caught on" to it as the small boys say. It was the marriage of Mrs. Sarah F. Meadows a very handsome lady of Louisville, to Stephen H. Nye the popular hotel man of Prestonville. Mrs. Meadows, an old friend of Mr. Dedrick's, was visiting at the latter's house and while everything was convenient it was thought best to have the wedding then and there. It was not new thing with either of the parties as they had become experience navigators on the sea matrimonial.

The revival at Dean's chapel came to a close Wednesday night. Rev. T. J. Godbey, of Carrollton preached twice and Monday night baptized four. The same night the Rev. T. S.
