PLEASE GIVE DIXIE A BREAK!

I am sure all our readers know that Mrs. Dixie T. Willis of New Bern, North Carolina is an indispensable part of this newsletter, 'TINGLE DESCENDANTS'. She performs the following chores:

- Provides for the printing of about 150 copies every three months;
- Staples and folds the 18 pages to fit in each envelope;
- Addresses and attaches the mailing labels;
- Inserts the newsletter in envelope and seals same;
- Attaches the required postage stamp and take the approximately 150 envelopes to the Post Office;
- Constantly updates the mailing list with address changes, thereby requiring new labels.

Please remember that Dixie does all this work as a volunteer. It is time-consuming to say the least.

In addition, she acts as Treasurer. We have deemed it advisable to publish the newsletter on a contributory basis rather than on a subscription plan. Consequently, when she does not receive an annual contribution, she writes a gentle reminder (which she doesn't like to do) and this takes more of her time.

From your letters to me I know that you appreciate the number of hours she unselfishly devotes to this little publication. As your editor I ask you to try and be considerate of her time and make it as easy as possible for her by doing the following:

If there is a change in your address, please notify her promptly. If her records show that you have not made a contribution since 1988, she will assume you are no longer interested and will remove your name from the mailing list.

Both Dixie and I deeply appreciate the support you have given to 'TINGLE DESCENDANTS.'

QUERY!

Can any reader help your editor by identifying
HARRY K. TINGLE
who was appointed postmaster of Kalida, Putnam County, Ohio on 16 May 1877? Please reply to J. Seeger Kerns,
830 W. 40th Street, #851, Baltimore, Maryland 21211.

TINGLES IMAGE

No, this is not the name of a person, historic home or monument. Its the name of a horse which finished third in the 95th running of the Maryland Hunt Cup on April 27, near Glyndon, Baltimore County. The 4-mile race is generally considered the most difficult steeple-chase in America, consisting of 22-timber jumps, the highest being 4' 10".

Tingles Image acquired his name, said the trainer, Mrs. Michael Smithwick, because he looked so much like his brother, Tingle Creek. The horse is owned by Mrs. T. A. Randolph of Middleburg, Virginia and was ridden by Mike Elmore. Thirteen horses competed for the coveted Cup and seven finished this grueling test of racing.

THANK YOU, CONTRIBUTORS!

A QUICK ANSWER!

The Spring 1991 issue of our newsletter carried a brief request for further identification of Corporal Kevin Tingle, U.S. Marine Corps. His picture was flashed last February on national television while serving in the Persian Gulf War. Dan Rather's Evening News featured it.

A quick response came from Mr. Dan W. Tingle of Lawrenceburg, Tenn. Kevin is his grand-nephew. Mr. Tingle provided the following information:

Kevin Scott Tingle, b. 6 Aug. 1964, son of Theo V. and Crystal Tingle of Leesburg, Florida

(father) Theo Virgil Tingle, b. 2 Nov. 1940, son of Rev. Harold T. and Jo Sutton Tingle of Lawrenceburg, Tenn.

(gr.father) Rev. Harold Theodore Tingle, b. 11 May 1913, d. 11 Apr. 1990, son of William M. and Hattie Denson Tingle of Cullman, Alabama.

(g.gr.father) William Marion Tingle, b. 3 June 1884, d. 28 May 1960, son of George W. and Margaret A. Livingston Tingle of Cullman County, Alabama.

(g.g.gr. father) George Washington Tingle, b. 18 July 1853, d. 10 Oct. 1936, son of Jesse Franklin and Clara Breeden Tingle of Gadsen, Alabama.

Dan W. Tingle, whose full name is Daniel Washington Tingle, b. 9 Sept. 1925, is a half brother of the late Rev. Harold Theodore Tingle. Dan points out that the family moved to Tennessee from Alabama in 1917. He credits Mrs. Marie Tingle Young of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., Mrs. Joyce Cannon Tingle-White of Columbia, Tenn. and Mr. Richard W. Tingle of Huntsville, Alabama for the information compiled above.

This short article would not be complete without an acknowledgement to Joyce White. She first sent me Tingle information way back in 1975 and in 1987 she prepared family charts. Several are reproduced in this issue, including that of William Marion Tingle, father of the above Dan W. Also chart for George Washington Tingle, father of William Marion. And this takes us back to Jesse Franklin Tingle, father of George W. where * researchers seem to be 'stuck.' Can any of our readers carry the chain further back? Mr. Richard W. Tingle of Huntsville, Alabama provided charts which were reproduced in Vol. 3 - No. 2, pp. 11-17 of this newsletter.

We are appreciative of Mr. Dan Tingle's prompt and enlightening letter. By golly, the "Tingle Descendants" newsletter is being read! Keep up the good work, all you faithful correspondents.

TINGLE MEN OF COURAGE!

Mrs. Sarah T. Everding of Kensington, Maryland, Associate Editor of the Newsletter, has written an interesting story about her uncle which our readers should enjoy --

LT. COLONEL CLARENCE HERBERT TINGLE

Quintessential Man of His Time

My branch of the Tingle descendancy from Hugh Tingle to the present has had a few flamboyant members, not the least of which was my uncle, Lt. Colonel Clarence Herbert Tingle, my father's older brother and family favorite, until his strange death in February 1938. A newspaper article copied below in the CHICAGO TRIBUNE (February 22, 1938) was, of course, based upon a coroner's jury decision undoubtedly influenced by U. S. Army opinions of fellow officers, but no family member or friend ever believed it to be a true verdict -- too many conflicting events obvious in the article, and Uncle Herb's personality and his love of life could not have permitted his suicide. Also, his popularity while serving in the army might well have been a factor for other than the printed word as follows.

JURY DECLARES LT.-COL. TINGLE TOOK OWN LIFE

Verdict Attributes Suicide
of Officer to Worry
Over Finances.

A coroner's jury decided today that Lt. Col. Clarence H. Tingle of the United States Quartermaster Corps shot himself to death in his apartment in the East End Park Hotel, 5242 Hyde Park boulevard, because he was worried over financial matters.

His body, when found by a fellow resident in the hotel, George Williams, a former criminal investigator, was surrounded with all the trappings of a mystery.

Fully Dressed for Street.

The colonel was fully dressed for the street. A bullet from an obsolete model .38 caliber revolver had plowed through his temple and out through the derby he was wearing. He was bundled in an overcoat and muffler.

On the floor beside him was his wallet—open and empty. And on an occasional table was a small bottle, lately containing brandy, with two glasses also bearing traces of the liquor.

"Col. Tingle rarely took a drink," Williams said. "Perhaps he would have one or two on very special occasions."

Series of Tragedies Recalled.

Today was such an occasion—the first anniversary of one of three tragedies that had struck the colonel within a year. Just one year ago today, Williams said, Col. Tingle's only son and his daughter-in-law were killed in an automobile accident in California.

Some time after that the 63-year-old colonel's wife, Mrs. Marina Tingle, was taken to a Milwaukee sanitarium, suffering from angina pectoris. In a short while the colonel's daughter, Mrs. Josephine Hebden of Pora su Prince Hall, followed her mother to the hospital, suffering from a nervous disorder.

Vainly Tried to Get Funds.

It was the sanitarium expense that had most bothered Col. Tingle, according to Williams, who described himself as "a close friend of the colonel for the last year." Williams told of futile efforts to arrange a $1,500 loan for Col. Tingle.

Martin Epstein, druggist in the building, told Deputy Coroner Christopher McGarigle that he had recently loaned the colonel the death gun, a "Forehand" model, made in Massachusetts in 1870.

Maj. James R. McDowell and Lt. Col. Henry B. Barry, Col. Tingle's associates in the army corps, could give only one reason for the suicide.

"Something must have snapped," said Maj. McDowell.

"That's the only thing I can think of. Something must have snapped," agreed Col. Barry.

Uncle Herb was an outstandingly handsome young man, impressive in later years, and he was very popular with the ladies. In fact, my Grandmother Tingle was quite dismayed when she caught him kissing her maid in the kitchen, who chased him afterwards with a knife, and was dismissed forthwith, so the story goes. Later, when he served with General Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines (two tours in the 1920s) Aunt Marina felt the General was not such a good "social" influence. And, before he joined the Navy (prior to the Spanish-American War of 1898) he was much in love with a young lady of Berlin, Maryland, Belle Whaley Keas, (years later she became my Godmother) but their romance suddenly cooled, and he went to sea. She married Mr. Keas. Why? In those days, everything was sacrosanct.

Other events moved along very well for him, however. He was only twenty-five years of age when he was first officer on the Army tugboat "SLOCUM" on August 8, 1899 during the Spanish-American War when a hurricane blew in on the way from Mayaguez to San Juan, "Porto" (Puerto) Rico. Unfortunately the captain became crazed with fear, had to be placed in irons by my uncle who assumed command of the ship. There were many persons aboard, but through his guidance and skill the ship and all aboard were safely brought to shore. His second act of heroism was saving the lives of four men on a barge in a gale when he launched a rowboat from the SLOCUM to effect their rescue when a tidal wave almost capsized the unwieldy barge (losing all supplies) and nearly swept away everyone. Two months later, my uncle was the guiding force after a towrope became caught in the propeller of the SLOCUM (while towing a lighter) and could not be budged. This time, my uncle volunteered a crew of men for his assistance who rowed a distance of twenty miles to shore in the almost unbearable hot tropical sun for help. A Navy tug, UNCAS, finally rescued the rowboat, and these valorous feats led to the Silver Medal of Honor many years later through the intervention of his wife and some friends, as he would never ask for such recognition himself. Through their efforts, in 1915, the Secretary of the Treasury presented him with the Congressional Silver Medal of Honor. *

A letter of March 25, 1938, from the Chief of Staff of the War Department to Aunt Marina after Uncle Herb's death appears to have reviewed all of the main points of his career, both Navy and Army. However, it does not recall his tours of duty in Tientsin, China, and in Yokohama and Nagasaki, Japan, as well as his having been Captain of the Port in San Juan, during which period he married Marina Lopez-Nuesa, daughter of a Spanish Marquis, who had moved his family from Valencia, Spain, to San Juan in the eighteen seventies.

We saw Uncle Herb frequently when he was Superintendent of the Quartermaster Corps at Bush Terminal, Brooklyn, New York, during the late twenties to mid-thirties. He and Aunt Marina and my family usually exchanged visits twice monthly when my brother and I were growing up in Westfield, New Jersey. We never tired of hearing of his adventures, which along with his sense of humor were unforgettable. In 1937 the Army transferred him to Chicago, and we never saw him again.

However, there were other medals besides the Congressional, but once again modesty and his unassuming personality prevailed. They were mounted in a frame and hung behind the door in a hall of their apartment in Brooklyn. It was my aunt who would put them in plain sight when he was not around, and he in turn would replace them where he wanted them - behind the door.

Where are they now? No one knows.

A TINGLE DESCENDANT IN KOREA!

A new reader of the newsletter is Chief Warrant Officer Robert Alan Scott, who has been in the U.S. Army for 23 years and is presently stationed in Korea.

He is a direct descendant of Ananias R. Tingle, born in Sussex County, Delaware on 13 March 1797. CW4 Scott has done extensive research on TINGLE, McCABE, SCOTT and related families of the Delmarva Peninsula. He has committed his records to computer technology with amazing clarity and was kind enough to transmit 29 pages to your editor. Eight are reproduced in this issue on what he called his "Name Sorted List."

Note that this list included some 375 names which are spread among 62 different surnames. Future issues will carry his "Descendancy Charts," "Family Group Records" and "Generation Charts." You will note TINGLE names (and many others) identified in pencil with the letter 'R' and a number. This is your editor's alpha-numeric system - he is too old to grapple with today's technology. But - he does marvel at the vast amount of detail that is produced with the flick of a button.*

Robert A. Scott's letter of 18 April 1991 contains some interesting stories about Tingles in Sussex County, Delaware, and the general area. We are pleased to reproduce part of it in this issue. Remember that this region was in dispute for decades between the heirs of William Penn and the Calvert Family (the Lords Baltimore). It was finally decided when the Mason and Dixon line was drawn in 1769 defining the boundaries of Delaware Maryland and Pennsylvania. A future issue of the newsletter will discuss Israel Tingle, Parthena Tingle, William and Elizabeth Derrickson Tingle, ancestors of Ananias R. Tingle.

*Please see separate article in this issue by CW4 Scott in which he describes how computers are rapidly gaining in use for genealogical research. Applying this technique to Tingle research by various interested readers can result in lightning transmission of data to the benefit of computer users.

Dear Mr. Kerns,

I recently receive from Mrs. Willis several copies of the Tingle Newsletter. I was surprised at how fast the response was to my enquiry. Please relay to Mrs. Willis my appreciation. I was wondering if I could get some missing back issues from you. The ones that seem to be missing are:

- All of Volume 1
- No. 1, 2, and 3 of Volume 2
- No. 1, and 4 of Volume 3

I was surprised to see mention of my hometown, if you can call it a town, Omar, DE in one of the newsletters. The Delaware History textbook has only recently changed the description of it from "a small, inbred, backwoods community consisting of a few frame houses situated around a small country store." Today, the store is gone, and the only Tingles that I know of in the immediate area are my aunt, Beatrice Hudson, who lives 1 mile south towards Roxana, Mr. John S. Tingle, who (if still alive) lives about 200 yards from the crossroads, and my family. We still own about 80 acres 1 mile east of there. The mailing address for anyone there is RD# 1 or 2, Frankford, DE 19945.

An interesting fact about Omar is that Lord Baltimore, during his tenure, commissioned a surveyor to go to that site, which is almost the center of Baltimore Hundred to lay off a town to be called Baltimore in his honor. The surveyor failed in his task and returned to Lord Baltimore and said that the area was unfit for human habitation. The "town" was called Baltimore as late as the 1860s, because I have a map which shows the mill pond and all landowners in the Hundred from the 1860s.

I will relate some of the Tingle history in Baltimore Hundred as related to me by my Aunt Bea, who will be 88 in August.

There was a John Tingle in the 1800's who is mentioned in several histories as a noted blacksmith in the area of present day Bayard. He was a free black man. My great-grandfather, Charles C. Tingle, was also a blacksmith at about the same time. This caused considerable problems for at least one of my uncles, when he started courting his wife to be. Her family forbade her to associate with a Tingle because of the mixed background. It finally was resolved with a visit from my great grandmother to the family to prove her husband's lineage. Supposedly, the John S. Tingle in Omar is one of the descendants of that John. There is also a John A. Tingle, again if he is still alive, in Frankford.

I have traced my Tingle family roots back to Parthena Tingle who died in 1799. There is a possibility that some of the information that Mrs. Willis sent me will connect me to an Israel Tingle whose sons, William and Luke, were mentioned in Ananias Robinson's will probated in 1787. William and Luke were included in Parthena's will as two of her sons. Prethy Tingle was named as an aunt to Ananias Robinson. This could be the same woman. William Tingle was named as Executor in both wills and Ezekiel Williams was a witness to both. William Tingle (died 1808) had a son, Annanias R. (born 1797), who was my great grandfather. By the way, Tingle's must be a virile bunch. Annanias was 73 years old and married to a 38 year old in 1870 when his last son was born."

COMPUTERS AND GENEALOGY

Readers who have access to computer-type genealogy will be particularly interested in the information quoted below from CW4 Robert A. Scott. As the younger generations become more interested in their TINGLE heritage, they will find his suggestions both timely and helpful. Note that he invites correspondence from anyone interested.

"This letter is becoming longer than I intended, however there is one thing that I feel strongly about. I have noticed several different computer printouts used in the Newsletter for the pedigrees and group sheets. I have used Family Roots on my Apple IIE and recently purchased an IBM compatible. A friend gave me a copy of the Mormon's PAF program (Personal Ancestral File) and it is the best genealogical program that I have ever seen. It includes a communication program that easily transfers files between users with a modem. The cost (about $35) is less than 1/4 that of Family Roots, gives a lot more features, and is easier to use. One feature that is that it will give the relationship between any two individuals in the data base and will print ahnentafel numbers on pedigrees if desired. You can also, for example, enter all persons of the same surname in one locality with their pertinent data and then request an automatic match feature. This will search the data base for like names, and dates within a certain range and produce them side by side on same screen so that you can compare them to see if they are the same individual. If so, you can then merge the 2 records into one. The only drawback is that it requires an IBM compatible which, since Apple has abandoned the home user and with the exorbitant cost of Apple hardware, isn't that much of a minus.

I agree!
Judy R.

The main thrust of my suggestion is that if all the Tingles are using the same program, then information can be swapped with the speed and cost of a 3 minute telephone call rather than the blinding speed of the Pony Express (excuse me, the Postal "Service").

As I said this letter is longer than I intended, but I wanted to send a check to help cover the costs of the newsletter. Mrs. Willis used up almost all I sent the last time on just the one mailing. I am stationed in Korea at the present time, so all my research has to be done by mail and I would be glad to correspond with anyone who is working on the Tingles of Baltimore Hundred and northern Worcester County, MD. Also Bishops, Truitts, and McCabes in the same area. I have extensive McCabe genealogy from that area back to 1727."

Yours truly,
