LUCY JANE TINGLE EVANS (1846-1926) OF KENTUCKY AND ILLINOIS

One by one, new TINGLE descendants come to the fore. Our latest collaborator is an excellent genealogist and articulate writer. She is Mrs. Julie Radford Harper of Littleton, Colorado, a great great granddaughter of Lucy Jane Tingle and her husband, Obediah Franklin Evans.

Jody Rice, our expert on unraveling long hidden Tingles in Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois, made contact with Mrs. Harper. The results are reproduced in this issue in the form of charts, family group listings, etc. Prepared by Mrs. Harper, they include a picture of Lucy Jane Tingle, probably taken on her wedding day. Readers will recall the charming picture of her and her husband taken 50 years later which appeared in Vol. 5 - No. 1, p. 7 of the newsletter.

Mrs. Harper writes - "The enclosed picture of Lucy Jane Tingle as a young woman, perhaps on her wedding day, according to my grandmother, Anna Farr. Both my grandmother and mother remember "Little Grandma Evans" (Lucy) as sweet, loving and kind -- adored by all her large family. She was only 17 when she married Obediah Evans. He was 19 and barely recovered from a terrible wound sustained at the battle of Shiloh, where his older brother, William, was killed. They were married for almost 60 years and had nine children, all of whom lived to adulthood. According to my Grandma Farr, Lucy loved to name her children's babies; some of the names she chose came from the many books she read. She named Grandma Farr's brother Lloyd, no doubt for her father."

Jody Rice continues her relentless search for the many Tingle lines originating in Kentucky. Mrs. Harper, Mrs. Juanita Vinson and others are pitching in to help. It is hoped that more readers with Tingle connections to Kentucky will feel the urge to assist her.

Mrs. Harper says --

"The information I have on Lucy Jane Tingle and her parents and grandparents came mostly from a journal written in 1920 by her husband, Obediah Evans. Copies of this journal and other information were sent to me by Alene DeWitt, 1704 Driftwood Drive, Bozeman, Montana 59715, who is researching the Evans family line. She also sent a portion of a letter from Lauralea Byers, whose great-grandmother was Lorinda Tingle. None of my previous information shows a Mary Ann Meek as the first wife of Jephtha Lloyd Tingle (nor is his name ever shown as anything other than Lloyd). Still, I think he must have been married to Mary Ann and had the three daughters with her because Serena would have been only 13 or 14 at the time Trifina was born. It makes sense that after his first wife died he might marry her younger sister, who would have been about 19 or 20 at the time her sister died. I wonder if the three little girls were old enough to remember their mother, Mary Ann. About one thing I am fairly certain: the child Lloyd and Serena had together was named Leanh. Lauralea Byers in her letter mentions that "Lee" was living with another family in 1860 and we know that Lucy was living with the George Lester family in 1860. Both families were in Marion County, IL. Grandma Farr (my mother's mother) also referred to Lucy as an orphan when she married Grandpa Evans. Unfortunately I don't have Lauralea Byers' address and haven't researched many census records on Joshua Meek(s) or any others of his family line.

As you can see from the journal written by Obediah Evans, he lists Lloyd Tingle's father as Benjamin and Serena Meek's parents as Nancy Stewart and Joshua Meek. Obediah was 75 when he wrote that journal and I'm inclined to believe his memory might have been failing a bit or that he was as careless with his facts as he was with his spelling! I had found Benjamin Tingle and his family in the Henderson County KY census of 1850 and wondered if he was Lloyd's brother. I never found a Benjamin Tingle old enough to be Lloyd's father. Your evidence seems more compelling that Jephtha Lloyd Tingle was the son of Kindle Tingle and Lucy Redmon. I am grateful for this new evidence and hope one day I'll be able to research this line back, hopefully to Hugh Tingle and Elizabeth Powell.

Now, the following is quoted from a letter from Lauralea Byers.

"I am going to check again to see if I copied Serena's age wrong. She had children young if this is right. Our family history is this ... according to a sister of my mother "Near Lexington KY lived a wealthy family named Stewart (sp.) Their daughter Nancy, married a man named Josuha Meeks. She was disinherited because he was an Irishman. Their oldest daughter, Serena, married a blue grass farmer named Lloyd Tingle. He died and she went to her Granddad Stewart for help and he refused. Meeks had moved to Illinois and he came with a team of oxen and farm wagon. He moved them in with his family, six girls and five boys. Lloyd Tingle had owned 40 acres of land near Lexington." Obediah Evans supposedly went to Kentucky to try and get some of the inheritance but it was done legally and he could do nothing about it. I have been checking court records and have not found anything. Sisters of Serena Tingle...Jane Hardcastle, Mat Bryant, Mrs. Shinifelt (I think this is probably Shanafelt, a common name in the area), Mrs. Winegarner. My gr.grandmother, Lorinda, died at Sims, IL which is in Wayne Co. IL. There are lots of Meeks' in Wayne County. The Census Taker used mostly initials in the Census. Going to try to go to Wayne Co. this summer. My aunt said she remembered Granny Meeks and her old clay pipe. She hit them with it. My aunt was born in 1886. Lee and Lucy are in the 1860 Census in Marion Co. I would think that probably Serena Tingle married again. I can't find my records right now, but in 1860 Lee is living with another family. Hope this is of interest.

Sincerely, Lauralea Byers.

The above should give you some clues to continue your search as you go into the Tingle line. You might see if your grandmother recalls hearing any of this information."

Just a quick note about me.....

I was born December 11, 1939 in Los Angeles, CA to Harry B. Radford, Jr. and Lois FARR Radford. The Tingle line is on my mother's side (see chart). Lucy Jane Tingle Evans was my great great-grandmother. I'm the eldest child and have two sisters. Barbara Lee Bullock lives in Houston, TX and Paula Lou Robinson lives in Jacksonville, NC. Both my parents are still living in Houston, TX.

I married Jene Paul Harper, Jr. (Paul) on August 30, 1960. We have two sons, Christopher Paul and Anthony Jene who live in Scottsdale, AZ. Neither is married yet, so there are no grandchildren as yet.

After 25 years as a housewife, changing circumstances led to my going to work full time for the Internal Revenue Service and pretty much leaving behind my interests in reading, needlework and, of course, genealogy which I hated to give up. I sent the 50th wedding anniversary picture of Obediah and Lucy Evans to Genealogical Helper several years ago while I was still actively working on genealogy and was surprised to have it published so much later.

Paul and I have lived in Texas, Louisiana and Colorado. We've been here in Littleton for 21 years and probably will end our days here. We love the mountains, hiking, camping, biking and skiing. Our only "child" now at home is our little schnauzer dog, Rascal.

Notes Lucy came to Ill. in 1851 with her mother's grandfather, James Mecke. She used snuff dishes. She loved to name children and named most of Ida's children according to one of them (Anna Belle who was named for her mother's sisters) Most of the other names were suggested by the many books she read.

(She used snuff, discreetly)

DESCENDANTS OF TWO SEPARATE TINGLE LINES UNITED!

Mrs. Dorothy W. Pepper of Selbyville, Delaware just recently sent a story and picture of her granddaughter and husband on their wedding day, 9 May 1987. The bride Nancy Marie Tingle, is a daughter of Prentice Wayne Tingle and his wife, Julia Anne Pepper, and is a direct descendant in the sixth generation from Benjamin D. Tingle and his wife, Mary Holland. The latter couple obtained a marriage license in Worcester County, Maryland on 19 December 1835. <

The groom in the picture is Michael Wayne West, son of Mrs. Bonita Tingle West and Wayne Robert West. Through his mother he is a direct descendant in the sixth generation from Ananias Robinson Tingle and his first wife, Elizabeth R. Derickson. The latter couple were married in Sussex County, Delaware on 10 February 1820. <

On-going research strongly suggests that the above Ananias R. Tingle was a grandson of Israel Tingle and Parthena Robinson of Sussex Co., DE. While no document seems to exist that actually proves these two to be husband and wife, there is supporting evidence in allied records that such a union existed. More about this in future issues of the newsletter.

At this time it has not been possible to prove a connection between the progenitors of the two Tingle lines of the young couple pictured herein.

We are indebted to Mrs. Pepper and her husband, Paul, for the wedding picture. Mr. and Mrs. Pepper's home is no more than five miles from where Hugh Tingle bought his first land in the new world in 1693. They and their ancestors have remained in this region for 300 years. What a record!

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Wayne West

Tingle/West nuptials told

Nancy Marie Tingle and Michael Wayne West were united in marriage on May 9 at Salem United Methodist Church in Selbyville. The double-ring ceremony was officiated by Rev. Howard Ketterman.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pepper, also of Selbyville. The groom is the son of Ms. Bonita T. West, of Bayard and Mr. Wayne R. West, of Ocean View, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. West, of Frankford.

Maid of Honor was Leanne Tingle, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Dawn West, sister of the groom, Tina O'Hare, Jennifer McLaughlin, and Natalie Disharoon.

Mark West, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Martin Pepper, Clarke Dronney, Thomas Troublefield, and Bill Daly.

Ann Turner served as guest book attendant. Lewis M. Brumberg was the organist and Marsha and Michele Banks were the soloists. A reception was held after the ceremony at the Selbyville Fire House.

Following a honeymoon cruise to the Caribbean, the couple is residing in Selbyville.

NEWS OF NEBRASKA TINGLES!

Artistic talent seems to run in the veins of these Tingles who are descendants of George and Mary Tingle of VA/W.VA. Witness the story below (taken from the Lincoln, NE Star Journal) about Sid Tingle of Lincoln who is a first cousin of the aforementioned Rob.

Entrance signs, banners to spruce up Haymarket

By Donna Biddle

Lincoln Journal-Star

More changes are on the way for the Historic Haymarket district. Entrance signs are expected to appear in the district this week, and new pennants and banners are coming too.

The designs of Sid Tingle with Tingle Design and Illustration were chosen for the pennants and banners from among 12 other entries in a city design contest.

Tingle presented four basic designs, one for each of the four seasons. Three of them have been approved by the mayor's office and the Urban Design Committee, and the summer design is undergoing revision, said Dallas McGee, development coordinator in the city Urban Development Department.

Tingle incorporated the Historic Haymarket logo, as well as the skyline, into his colorful designs. The spring pennants and banners feature flowers. The summer design is expected to have a patriotic theme, and the fall design includes fall vegetables.

Tingle won $2,000 for his winning entries.

McGee said the selection committee reviewed entries that used more literal interpretations, such as a train or a building, but felt it wanted a broader interpretation of the Haymarket district.

The vertical pennants will be installed on the new street lights along Seventh Street. The pennants also will hang from some poles near Eighth and P and also near Ninth and Q. These poles eventually will carry banners that will span the street, announcing festivals and other special occasions, McGee said.

The pennants measure 2 feet 6 inches by 6 feet tall.

The banners will be installed in the three entrance signs.

The 20-foot-tall signs will be erected at Eighth and O streets, Ninth and P streets, and Ninth and Q streets, McGee said. The banners will measure 6 foot 4 inches by 2 feet 8 inches.

There are 80 pennants — 20 that will be installed at any one time.

McGee said he is unsure when the pennants and banners will be ready, but said he is hopeful that the winter pennants can be put up by the end of winter.

Our Treasurer, Mrs. Sarah E. Tingle Everding of Kensington, Maryland, took pen in hand and crafted the following article about her great uncle, David Paul Brown Tingle. The news clippings are taken from the Baltimore SUN of January 11, 1913:

THE UNION DRAFT VERSUS THE CONFEDERACY ENLISTMENT

David Paul Brown Tingle, eldest son of "Gentleman" John Tingle and his second wife, Mary A. E. Tingle (née Bowen) was the older brother of my grandfather, Clarence Llewellyn Tingle, and they had more in common than just being brothers. Both left home at age sixteen, David to join the Confederacy in 1861, and Clarence three years later to go to sea. Great Uncle David, about whom this tale is addressed, is well recorded in the Confederate States of America files in the National Archives, Washington, D.C. However, nothing pertaining to his being drafted into the Union Army has been found, although upon reading the two following articles, there would be some question.

LINCOLN PARDONED HIM

David P. B. Tingle Dead—Mother Pleased With President.

David P. B. Tingle, a veteran of the Civil War and member of one of the oldest families in Maryland, died yesterday morning at his home, 921 North Gilmor street. Death was due to a complication of diseases.

Mr. Tingle, who was in his sixty-ninth year, was born in Berlin, Worcester county, Md. At the outbreak of the Civil War Mr. Tingle was drafted for the Union Army, but with several companions he escaped from the Union lines one night and made his way to Richmond, where he joined the Confederate colors. A few months before the close of the war Tingle was captured and taken to Long Island, where he was placed in a prison with several other rebels. Some of the Union leaders had determined to deal harshly with young Tingle, but his mother, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Tingle, who died only last year, went to Washington and made a personal appeal to President Lincoln to spare her son. Lincoln, after hearing the merits of the case, signed a special pardon and Tingle was set at liberty.

After peace had been declared between the North and the South Tingle took to farming. Then, after some years, he quit the farm and was successively connected with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway.

Mr. Tingle is survived by his widow (Mrs. Jennie C. Tingle), a brother (Capt. C. L. Tingle, of New York) and a daughter (Mrs. O. D. Green), all of this city.

Two sons (John Paul Tingle, assistant secretary of the United Railways, and William W. Tingle, of the Mallory Steamship Company) also survive.

It is doubtful (from the first article) that the Union Army at the beginning of the Civil War in 1861 was drafting sixteen-year olds. Also, Maryland was a "border" state, and the Eastern Shore was certainly more southern than northern in its sympathies regarding the slavery issue, and also its remote location to the western shore of Maryland contributed in making it more likely for its citizens (including the Tingles) to follow the southern doctrine. And, one must remember that at age sixteen causes are so very glamorous and inviting. To my great uncle and his friends who accompanied him, making their way in a sloop from the Sinepuxent Bay and around the Del-Mar-VA peninsula to the Chesapeake Bay onward to Richmond, it must have been life's greatest adventure. UNTIL -- the Battle of Gettysburg with the First Maryland Regiment in July 1863, where he was not only severely wounded himself, but also faced with the trauma of seeing his friend's head blown off in battle, then later being captured by the Union Army, and transported to a northern prison in Long Island, New York, with other "rebels." This had to be the ultimate climax! He was not even twenty years of age.

In the second article he is said to have made his escape from the Union forces and enlisted in the Confederate Army, and later was captured by the Union Army. As previously noted, this seems rather far-fetched, but an interesting point, as even in those olden times the media was often inaccurate in its reporting.

However, it is true that Great Uncle David's mother made a trip to Washington, D.C. to petition President Abraham Lincoln to grant her son a pardon for his soldierly transgressions, which the sympathetic and just President did, and David was released, although the Union Army had another opinion regarding punishment for him.

Of course, the whereabouts of the special pardon, if indeed it was a written statement, is unknown, and is non-existent in the Union Army files in the National Archives. Should any of his descendants have knowledge of such a pardon, please notify the Editor.

Sarah E. Tingle Everding

STEPHEN GREEN AND ADDIE CAMPBELL TINGLE FAMILY.

Stephen Green Tingle was born in Monroe County, Georgia in the community of Blount in 1861. His parents were Archibald Daniel and Mary Mahala Treadwell Tingle. Volume 2, No. 2 of Tingle Descendants carried a story of the Confederate Army records of Archibald Daniel (Archie) Tingle and his brothers. Archie was the son of Daniel and Parthenia Hatcher Tingle,¹ the grandson of John and Sarah Purifoy Tingle,² and the great grandson of Solomon Tingle and his wife, Mary, of Craven County, N.C.³

Sarah Purifoy's family has a colorful history and has been traced back to Charlemagne and Alfred the Great. This pedigree is given in Volume 3, No. 1 of Tingle Descendants. Sarah Purifoy's grandfather, the Rev. Nicholas Purifoy, Jr., was whipped and imprisoned for signing a petition to build a Baptist house of worship in New Bern, N.C.⁴ Sarah's uncle, David Purifoy, married a Sarah Tingle. The two families seem to have been closely associated and may have been part of a religious community whose members had left the established church, the Church of England. The Tingle family continued in the Baptist tradition in Georgia.⁵

We know little about Parthenia Hatcher, Stephen Green Tingle's paternal grandmother. Family records show that she was born in S.C., but we believe she grew up in the home of her uncle, Solomon Willie, in Jefferson County, Georgia. She is named in the will of this uncle.⁶

Stephen Green (S.G.) Tingle's mother, Mary Mahala (Halie) Treadwell Tingle, was the daughter of Green and Nancy Buffington Treadwell. S.G. Tingle was named for his uncle, Stephen Green Treadwell, who served as an officer in the Confederate Army. The Treadwell family has been extensively researched, but the destruction of records in Montgomery County, N.C. makes one step in the documentation of Green Treadwell's lineage impossible.⁷ A Lt. Stephen Treadwell was a physician in the Revolutionary forces in N.C. He was born in Connecticut in 1748, went south to N.C. and later settled in Georgia where he died in 1833. All evidence supports our belief that Green Treadwell was a grandson of this Dr. Stephen Treadwell.⁸

was a member of an old Pennsylvania Quaker family that migrated to S.C. and settled near York where they operated an iron works. Nancy's father, Jacob Buffington, was born in Pennsylvania in 1757 and died in Monroe County, Georgia in 1827.⁹ Several books have been written on the history of the Buffingtons tracing them from England to Pennsylvania and on to the Southern states.¹⁰

Stephen Green Tingle grew up with two sisters and six brothers in the Archie Tingle homeplace on Tingle Road in the Blount community of Monroe County, Georgia.¹¹ Several years ago we visited the area and found the foundation of a large house which had been destroyed by fire in the 1930's. Eight crumbled chimneys remain from what must have been an attractive home in a pleasant setting. The farmlands which once supported a large family have returned to forest and woodlands much as they were when the first white settlers, John and Sarah Tingle among them, came into the Monroe area in the 1820's.¹²

In 1880, when he was nineteen years old, S.G. Tingle purchased fifty acres in the 14th district of Monroe County from his father.¹³ This farm was on the road which ran from Blount to Berner and continued on to Monticello in Jasper County. In subsequent years S.G. bought other parcels of land in this area,¹⁴ and we believe it was to this neighborhood that S.G. brought his bride, Addie Campbell, after their marriage in 1884.¹⁵

Adeline Lenora Campbell Tingle was born in Jasper County, Georgia in 1862. Her father, Confederate veteran Charles Griffith Campbell, had an interesting background. His mother, Adeline Maguire, was a member of the French branch (Maquere) of the Irish Maguire family.¹⁶ Adeline Maguire's father, Richard Louis Maguire, was a French planter in Santo Domingo who narrowly escaped with his life at the time of the Negro Insurrection in 1791.¹⁷ He settled in Georgia and it was there in Morgan County that his daughter met and married Griffith Campbell.¹⁸ Their son, Charles Griffith Campbell, married Clementine McMichael whose family members were prominent plantation owners in Jasper County Georgia.²⁰

The first home of S.G. and Addie Tingle was in the midst of an extended family of aunts, uncles and cousins²¹ and near the road which would take them back to Addie's family home near Monticello.²⁰ The period following the War Between the States was not an easy one for rural Georgia, but S.G. and his family seem to have prospered. They steadily acquired additional land and their first son, Robert, was followed in orderly fashion by seven brothers and sisters, one of whom died as an infant.

When S.G. decided to relocate his family in Greene County, Georgia, it must have been quite an undertaking. The farmlands of Monroe County had been farmed for over seventy years and new, rich land may have been the lure which prompted the move. S.G.'s daughter, Daisy Tingle Thaxton, said, "we moved to be near our Treadwell cousins and farm bottom land; Papa loved to farm bottom land." After buying substantial acreage and building a home there, S.G. and Addie moved their family to Harmony Grove near Greshamville, Greene County, Georgia on Thanksgiving Day 1900.²³ Three little girls were born to them there, but two of them died in infancy.

By 1910, S.G. Tingle had a new home for his family in Woodville, Greene County, Georgia.²⁴ This was a white frame house with a summer kitchen and an inviting front porch. It was located on the right side of the road about a mile east of the Baptist church. In the first quarter of the 1900's Woodville was a prosperous community with saw mills, planing mills, stores and a large combined elementary and high school in the area. The Tingle family of handsome sons and attractive daughters must have been a welcome addition to the community for in a few years several of them had married into local families. The young couples seem to have remained in or near Woodville until hard times again hit rural Georgia. In the early 1920's the boll weevil reached Georgia and devastated the cotton crops which were the mainstay of the local farm economy. By 1930 the effects of the Great Depression further undermined the economy. Soon none of S.G. and Addie's children except Richard and his wife, Emma Mae, remained in the Woodville area.

Stephen Green Tingle and his wife, Addie, and the eleven children they bore and nurtured strictly but lovingly are all dead now. S.G. Tingle, a tall, thin, bearded man who walked with a limp died in 1929. Addie Tingle, a bright energetic little woman, lived on until 1943.

The old Tingle home in Woodville still stands in good repair. The well S.G. dug still provides ample water. The scuppernong.

vines are still there. But the bottom land where Stephen Tingle and his sons cut virgin timber and then cleared and planted crops is now being reclaimed by the piney woods. A once close family is dispersed; a way of life is no more.
