SPECIAL NOTE TO OUR READERS!

It is with gratitude that the editor, treasurer and staff thank the following persons for their contributions received since the last issue of this newsletter:

- | | |
|----------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| Mrs. Evelyn DeGuglielmo | Mr. Sandford Powell |
| Mr. Fred Eakin | Mr. David P. Shaw |
| Mr. & Mrs. William E. Esham, Sr. | Mrs. Thelma E. Taylor |
| Mrs. Jacqueline Goldman | Mr. Earl B. Tingle, Sr. |
| Mr. George R. Long | Mr. Elmer B. Tingle |
| Mrs. Donna S. Mahler | Mrs. Joan K. Tingle |
| Mrs. Ivey McGrew | Mr. Sidney A. Tingle |
| Ms. Elaine Mitchell | Mrs. Svanhit E. Tingle (Swan) |
| Mrs. Dorothy W. Pepper | |

Our worthy treasurer, Mrs. Sarah E. T. Everding, has been handling the chores of that office which include paying bills, as well as the printing and mailing of the newsletter. This is no small feat as our former treasurer, Mrs. Dixie T. Willis, can attest.

As our readers know, the intent of the staff is to cover expenses through voluntary contributions. Sarah says we need more money and in that vein she has prepared the following letter to all members which is being included as part of this issue in order to save extra postage.

A number of our readers have been most generous with their contributions and we do thank them. However, as Sarah points out we need from each reader $12.50 per year for the four issues in order to cover expenses.

Too many of our readers are sending much smaller amounts and the result is 'we are skating on thin ice.' So we are pulling out the 'crying towel' and asking you to try and meet the minimum of $12.50. Thank you for your continued support!

March 30, 1993

TO OUR MEMBERS:

Aside from the Editor's mention of the need for funds to keep our newsletter afloat in the last issue of the TINGLE DESCENDANTS, I would like to add my voice to this request, as Treasurer.

Unfortunately, the price of production of the newsletter has risen remarkably in the year and six months of my term of office. An example - two years ago the price for typing was around $30 for the eighteen pages comprising the newsletter. To date, it is at least $40 and sometimes $60. It all depends on the typist's charges. The actual cost of the last printing was $152.00 for 128 copies. Envelopes are $11 for 250. Sending out 110 copies was $57.20 (52¢ per copy), and there are always incidentals each year, such as requests for extra copies and other information as well as office supplies (minor expense).

It is not my intention to carp on this subject, but the fact remains that the financial burden cannot be fairly placed upon the ones who have contributed well above the amount necessary (for which we do thank them), while others appear to expect to receive and have been receiving the newsletter ad infinitum without any monetary gestures whatsoever towards its publication.

However, after consideration of the situation in the best possible light and the number of members (101)*, I believe it would be fair and equitable if everyone contributed just $12.50 per year -- not a large expenditure for this publication.

I thank you for your favorable consideration of this matter in view of the difficulties outlined above.

Sincerely,

Sarah E. T. Everding
Treasurer

* We also send around ten copies to the Library of the Congress, other genealogical groups and historical societies for which we cannot, of course, charge.

ELIZABETH DENNIS TINGLE OF MARYLAND (1799-1878)

The picture included with this article provided the impetus for your editor to become interested in his roots. When my mother died in 1968, one week short of her 93rd birthday, she left memorabilia galore. On the back of the photograph she had written "your great grandmother, Elizabeth Dennis Tingle Williams, born March 22, 1804 - died April 5, 1878." Subsequent research verified the date of death but the year of birth turned out to be 1799.

Elizabeth Dennis Tingle was born in Worcester County, Maryland, the second of five children of William Tingle and his first wife, Sarah (Sally) Long. He was a son of Caleb Tingle and his wife, Elizabeth Fassitt. William was, therefore, a great grandson of Hugh Tingle, the progenitor of this line of Tingles who came into the Maryland colony in 1669.¹

The sister and brothers of Elizabeth Dennis Tingle Tingle were²:

John Tingle (Gentleman John)	b. 13 Jan. 1798
	m. (1) Sally M. Purnell
	m. (2) Mary A. E. Bowen
Harriet Gore Handy Tingle,	b. 18 May 1804
	m. John Slemmons Stevenson
James Alexander Tingle,	b. 4 July 1806
	m. Sally Hudson
William Tingle, date of birth and death unknown

Elizabeth Dennis Tingle grew up in Worcester County and on 12 Jan. 1820 married Thomas Hudson³. They lived on a farm about two miles north of Berlin on the road leading to St. Martin's church. Three children were born of this marriage:⁴

Julia Ann Hudson, b. Nov. 1820, m. Charles A. Orem
Sarah Elizabeth Hudson, b. 27 Oct. 1823, d. 6 May 1837
Mary Harriet Andasia Tingle Hudson, b. 19 Aug. 1826
d. 11 July 1838

The last named child died at age 11 in a tragic sailing accident on Sinepuxent Bay⁵.

Thomas Hudson died 8 July 1832, leaving no will⁴. His widow was named administratrix of his estate⁶. Left with three small children, she remarried a year later in Aug. 1833 to Thomas Nathaniel Williams, Jr. To this marriage there were born two daughters:⁴

Corella K. Williams, b. between 1833 and 1835
Maria Adeline Williams, b. 5 Sep. 1836

On 29 Aug. 1836 Thomas N. Williams gave bond to Isaac Holland in the amount of $1,000 whereby he agreed to "sell and convey to Corella Williams, his daughter, and to his child which his wife, Elizabeth Williams, is now pregnant with, his life estate which he holds in the farm which his wife bought of Eli Powell, situated on the road leading from Berlin to St. Martin's church and adjacent to Wm. Gault's farm, etc."⁷

TINGLE DESCENDANTS

Elizabeth Dennis Tingle of Maryland (1799-1878)

This bond may have been given in anticipation of death, yet no will has been found nor is there any record of an administration of his estate. It has not been possible to find when he died nor where he was buried.

On 9 July 1839 guardian bonds were given by Elizabeth D. Williams in the amount of $3,000 for each of the two minor daughters of Thomas N. Williams⁸.

Sometime later Mrs. Williams moved to Baltimore, Maryland with her daughter, Julia A. Orem, son-in-law Charles A. Orem, and remaining unmarried daughter, Maria A. Williams⁹. She had lost two daughters by her first husband and one by her second husband.

Elizabeth Dennis Tingle Hudson-Williams died suddenly on 5 April 1878. The funeral was held in Baltimore on April 8 from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Maria A. Williams Johannes, who had married Edward Johannes of Baltimore on 22 Nov. 1859. Worcester County papers were asked to copy¹⁰. She is buried in Loudon Park Cemetery, Baltimore, where a plain tombstone marks the Tingle - Williams - Johannes plot.

Mrs. Jackie Goldman, a devoted member of the staff of this newsletter, has prepared the following article which tells about her 3X great grandfather, Joseph Tingle. This interesting biography is well researched and we thank her for sharing it with our readers. Future Tingle descendants will also be indebted to you, Jackie!

JOSEPH TINGLE, CIVIL WAR SOLDIER

Joseph Tingle¹ was a master tailor and for many years owned a tailor shop in Columbus Grove, Ohio.

In 1862, at age 38, he joined the Union army, enlisting with 99th Ohio Volunteer Infantry.² He entered with the rank of commissary sergeant, was promoted to first lieutenant in 1863, and became regimental quartermaster in late 1864, when the 99th Ohio became part of the 50th Ohio Volunteer Infantry. He was mustered out in June, 1865, after the war's end.

His personal description from his enlistment records:
5 feet, 10 inches tall, light complexion, blue eyes, sandy hair.

Joe Tingle took part in the battles of Perryville, Stone's River, and Chickamauga, the siege of Chattanooga (under Ulysses S. Grant), the battle of Lookout Mountain, the Atlanta Campaign (under William Tecumseh Sherman), the Siege of Atlanta, the battle of Jonesboro, the battle of Nashville, the Campaign of the Carolinas, and was present at the surrender of Confederate General Joseph E. Johnston and his army.³

His civil war service took a toll: In his pension file there is an affidavit stating that "On or about the first day of April 1864 at or near Chattanooga in the state of Tennessee, Joseph Tingle's eyes became sore and exceedingly inflamed caused by the taking of a severe cold and exposure during the fight at Chattanooga". (His sore eyes never fully healed, and he later had to close his tailor shop after his eyes worsened.) Then, three days before Christmas 1864, Joseph Tingle requested a leave of absence due to illness and injury (see letter). Permission was denied, and he remained with his company. Joe would have to wait until the next year, when the war was over, to be back again with his family at Christmas.

According to his grand-nephew Ed Tingle, "Joe Tingle, my father's uncle, was the tailor in Columbus Grove. I saw him only a few times but I remember him telling me that he had made clothes for two presidents. I don't remember the name of the two."⁴ Joe also told Ed that he had sewn clothes for a one-armed general.

Joseph Tingle, Civil War Soldier

The two presidents' names have remained a mystery (Grant was probably one of them), but Joe's military file throws some light on the identity of the general. In his regimental muster roll is the statement "Joseph Tingle, from May to July 1864 Absent - detailed at Bridgeport, Alabama in care of baggage by order of General Howard."

Major-General Oliver Otis Howard had lost his right arm in an earlier battle.⁵ In May of 1864, General Howard took command of the Fourth Army Corps, of which Joe's regiment was part. No doubt General Howard sent Joe to Bridgeport to sew some clothes as well as oversee the baggage --- A good tailor was hard to find.

Now who were those two presidents?

SOURCES

1. A brief genealogy -- Joseph Tingle was born on May 6, 1824 in Lebanon, Ohio. He was the son of the Rev. Samuel Parker Tingle and his wife Eliza McCain. Joseph married Anna Sophia Cunningham (daughter of Dr. William and Anna (Ewalt) Cunningham) on May 8, 1845 in Lima, Ohio. They had five children: William Cunningham Tingle, Harry Kirston Tingle, Edgar Brice Tingle, Thomas Kinley Tingle, and Zoe Hayes Tingle. Joe Tingle died on April 3, 1913 in Kansas City, Missouri, where he was buried.

Joseph Tingle was seventh in line of descent from Hugh Tingle, Sr. of Maryland, the line being: Joseph⁷ Tingle, Samuel Parker⁶ Tingle, Jedidiah⁵ Tingle, Samuel⁴ Tingle, Littleton³ Tingle, Samuel² Tingle, Hugh¹ Tingle.

A more extensive genealogy of Joseph Tingle, with source citations, is being prepared for a future newsletter.

TRACING PAPER UNCOVERS SECRETS ABOUT
JOHN AND SOPHIA TINGLE CLARK OF DELAWARE

Readers of the newsletter will recall how Chief Warrant Officer Robert A. Scott of Korea committed his extensive TINGLE family records to computer technology (Vol. 4 - No. 4, pp. 9-18). He has completed his foreign tour of duty and been reassigned to the U.S.A. His new address is:

CW4 Robert A. Scott
9081-B Nancy Road
Fort Drum, N.Y. 13603

After doing a stint in Florida following the devastating hurricane of last fall, he used some of his leave to visit his native Delaware. He contacted Dorothy and Paul Pepper of Selbyville and with Paul's help he located the graves of his great grandparents, Charles C. and Annie C. Tingle, at Old Sound Church, Johnson's Corner, Sussex County. Then he took out his metal detector and they found the graves of John Clark and his wife, Sophy. To the naked eye the dates on the Tombstones were illegible but using cemetery tracing paper they were able to decipher the following:

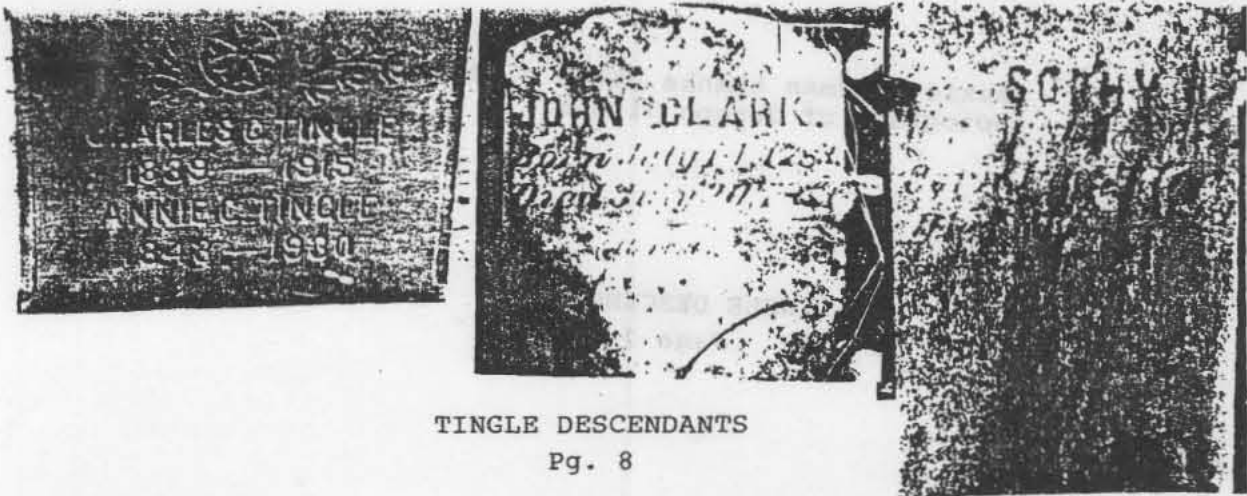

JOHN CLARK
Born July 14, 1783
Died July 20, 1839
At Rest

SOPHY
Wife of JOHN CLARK
Born June 21, 1788
Died Mar. 12, 1864

These two graves are located close to Sandy Landing, behind the Paul McCabe, Sr. house, near the Delaware-Maryland state Line.

Sophia Tingle Clark was the daughter of William and Elizabeth Derickson Tingle, and sister of Ananias R. Tingle, Sr. (See Tingle Descendants, Vol. 6 - No. 1, p. 19). That story stated she was probably five or six years older than her brother but this tombstone proves she was eight years and nine months older, reaching the age of twenty-one on 21 June 1809.

The progeny of John and Sophia Clark are Tingle descendants and it is hoped that information will now surface about this line, so that we will know more about their heritage. Is there a Clark bible? Certainly the Ananias R. Tingle bible gave us a mountain of long hidden information.

At last, Old St. Martin's Church at the junction of Routes 115 and 189, near Berlin and Showell, Eastern Shore of Maryland, where Hugh Tingle, the progenitor, settled in 1669, has been given a transfusion of $40,000 towards its restoration by the Maryland Historical Trust.

It will be remembered by the Tingle descendants of Berlin and its environs (as well as some, like the writer, who reside elsewhere) that St. Martin's Church, Worcester Parish, was founded on April 23, 1753. Also, our ancestor, Daniel Tingle, son of the progenitor, became one of its original wardens and served during the years 1753, 1754, 1755 and 1757. Another interesting fact - he and his son, Caleb, owned Pew No. 4, still intact in the interior of the old Episcopal church today. [(TINGLE DESCENDANTS - Vol. 3 - No. 2 - pages 3 and 4 (Note 5))]

St. Martin's preservation a go

Old St. Martin's Church, standing vacantly at the junction of Routes 113 and 589 near Ocean Pines and Showell will soon be restored to its original condition after decades of disuse and gradual deterioration.

Plans for preserving the mid-18th century Episcopal Church, which have been on the drawing board for years, have been given a "jump start" by a $40,000 grant from the Maryland Historical Trust. This maximum award recognizes the unusual historical value of the church structure, considered to be one of the gems of ecclesiastical architecture dating back to the colonial era.

Matching donations and pledges for the preservation work have already been received from local organizations and individual patrons. While these funds are sufficient to stabilize the exterior of the church, the long-range plan calls for a comprehensive restoration of the entire church and its grounds. This will depend on contributions from the general community over the next several years.

Responsibility for the restoration and operation of the project is being taken over by a newly established trust, The St. Martin's Church Foundation, Inc. The foundation is being deeded this historic property by St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Berlin.

St. Martin's Church ... restoration plans aided by $40,000 grant.

The Foundation has two main goals for a restored St. Martin's Church. One purpose will be to reopen the property for occasional religious services, including non-denominational use for weddings and commemorative religious events. St. Martin's will also be operated as a historical, educational and charitable facility to serve the community at large.

St. Martin's church came to be with the early settlement of the Maryland and Delaware seaside areas. Perhaps as early as the 1690's church services were held on the present grounds of St. Martin's, reportedly in a barn that was eventually hauled away when construction of the present brick structure was initiated in 1756.

Re-opening St. Martin's Church to the public as a religious and historical site is tentatively scheduled for 1994, exactly 150 years after the last major improvements were made to the structure. The stabilization of the exterior, supported in part by the grant from the Maryland Historical Trust, is planned to begin in May of 1993.

Contributions to the preservation of Old St. Martin's Church are now being accepted. Donations or inquiries should be directed to the St. Martin's Church Foundation, Inc. P.O. Box 429, Berlin, Maryland 21811.

WHO CAN IDENTIFY THIS EDWARD TINGLE?

Mrs. JoAnn R. Rice of Orlando, FL sent to us the news clipping below concerning one EDWARD TINGLE. He was the honored guest at a party in Boston, (MA) to celebrate his 49th birthday.

Jody Rice, received the article from "COMPU-GEN SYSTEMS" of Fort Wayne, Indiana in reply to her request for an index search of all Tingle names in that state. She can't figure out why Indiana archives would carry a story about a Boston resident, and adds "perhaps someone from Boston might recognize EDWARD as theirs, and explain everything." A quick calculation would indicate EDWARD TINGLE to have been born 28 August 1875. Can any of our readers identify him?

From Richmond Palladium & Sun Telegram, Sep. 4, 1924,
p. 12 (Boston News)

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Frazee delightfully entertained Saturday evening at their home in Boston in honor of Edward Tingle's 49th birthday anniversary. The evening was spent in a social way. At a late hour a dainty luncheon was served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Alvey and children, Maxine, Eugene, Charlotte and Herschel, Mrs. Jennie Dills, Mrs. James Hughes and Harold Martin of Miamitown, James Freeman of Kitchel, George Phenix, Albert Short, A. B. Parks, Willard Howard, Ed Maley and Edward Tingle.

TWIN TINGLE BROTHERS FROM GEORGIA

A new reader of our newsletter is Mrs. Harold W. Tingle of San Jose, California. Better known as Swan Tingle, she is very interested in the genealogy of her husband's family. She had corresponded with our staff member, Mrs. JoAnn Rice of Orlando, FL, and the result is the Ancestor Chart shown in this issue.

Mrs. Rice writes -- "Harold W. and Haward W. Tingle were the twin sons of Albert Delmar A. Tingle, born in Georgia. The latter died in 1975, at age 85, and is buried in the I.O.O.F. Cemetery in Trimble County, KY. Note that this Tingle Line is descended from Kindle Tingle and his wife, Mary Lucinda Redmon who were born in Maryland and emigrated to Kentucky." Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Swan Tingle may have more to add in a future issue.

A TINGLE BEAUTY!

The picture of Lenore Tingle reproduced herein does not do justice to the one which appeared in the Brooklyn Eagle some fifty years ago when her betrothal was announced in March 1941. Sarah T. Everding, our treasurer and production manager, was cleaning out a closet and found these clippings in an old scrap book of her father, Severn Murray Tingle.

Also pictured is Lenore's father, Leonard Tingle, who was elected president of the Butterick Co. the same year. He was a prominent business man in New York City, We ran a little story on him in Vol. 4 No. 1, p. 5 of the newsletter.

Do any of our readers know anything about this family? Your editor will appreciate any information. Peep in your closets, trunks and attic, dear readers and find some 'goodies' to send to your editor.

JEANNE TINGLE SCRANTON (1909-1991) OF NORTH CAROLINA

In the summer 1991 edition of the newsletter (Vol. 4 - No. 4) we carried the obituary of this active and dedicated woman. The clipping reproduced herein recently came to our attention and indicated the breadth of her interests. Mrs. Scranton was the daughter of William Resdon Tingle of Pamlico County, North Carolina and a descendant of the earliest Tingles to inhabit the eastern part of the state. We are indebted to Mrs. Dixie T. Willis for sending the extract.

THE JEANNE SCRANTON ARCHIVES ROOM

From 1975 until her death in 1991, Mrs. Jeanne T. Scranton served as the church archivist. During this period of time, she directed the establishment of one of the finest church archives anywhere. In 1980 two rooms on the third floor were renovated as the church archives including a display room and a work room. Without the dedication and hard work of Jeanne Scranton, First United Methodist Church would not have such a fine collection of historical memorabilia and historical records of the church and its members.

In recognition of her contribution to this task, the Administrative Board of First United Methodist Church, at its meeting on June 1, named the archives room, the Jeanne Scranton Archives Room. Her picture will be hung in the room along with an appropriate plaque.

If you have not visited the Jeanne T. Scranton Archives Room recently, try to do so the next time the Records and History Committee has an Open House. There are many interesting articles to be seen as we remember the history of our church.

PHILIP TINGLE OF PENNSYLVANIA - 1750

Fred Eakin of Porterdale, Georgia threw this one at your editor to 'stir his imagination,' as he put it.

He was doing some research at the Church of L.D.S. library in Jonesboro, GA and ran across an interesting item. It appeared in a quarterly publication titled "The Pennsylvania Traveler" - a Family History of Pennsylvania, Vol. 4 - No. 1, November 1977, and published at Danboro, PA 18916. The item read:

"PHILIP TINGLE, warrant for 150 acres in Lebanon TWP, Lebanon County, Penna., 10 October 1750."

Can anyone shed any light on this Philip Tingle? His name does not show up in any of your editor's files.

SOLOMON WILLIE TINGLE OF LOCUST GROVE, GA (1845-1923)

Fred Eakin of Porterdale, Georgia was researching Tingle names recently in a local library and ran across the item below. It appeared in the "MCDONOUGH ADVERTISER" of May 21, 1925 and concerns the death of Mr. S.W. Tingle. This is really SOLOMON WILLIE TINGLE whose story was told in Vol. 2 - No. 2, pp. 3-6 of the newsletter by our loyal staff member, Mrs. Joan K. Tingle of Valley Center, California, in her article, titled "MONROE MEMORIES" ---

MCDONOUGH ADVERTISER, THURSDAY, MAY 31, 1925 FRONT PAGE

MR. S.W. TINGLE DIED SATURDAY MORNING

"It is with regret that we chronicle the death of Mr. S.W. Tingle which occurred at his home near Locust Grove, 30 miles from Blount, on Saturday morning at 7 o'clock. He was one among the older men of the county having reached the age of 79 years. Mr. Tingle was a very young man when the Conflict Between the States arose but being a Southern boy it was but natural that he would cast his lot with those people who he loved and he therefore served his country honorably and well on the field of battle and the record he made was one that made glad his children and all other loved one and friends. He was born in Butts County in the year 1845. He was married to Mrs. Georgia McCollum who preceded him to the grave 3 years ago. To this happy union 10 children were born and 9 of them now survive. Mr. Tingle was a splendid citizen whose moral and Christian life was such as to be commended by everybody. In his passing a distinct loss has come to his home, community and friends. He is survived by 4 daughters, Mrs. A.V. Rosser, Mrs. A.J. McKibben of Locust Grove, Mrs. W.L. Skinner of Atlanta and Mrs. C.J. Dickson of McDonough and 5 sons, Messrs. J.F., and Gordon A.H., L.E. and Deputy Sheriff A.D. Tingle. Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 3.00 o'clock at Beersheba Church by Elder Dan Henderson and Rev. W.O. Sharp and interment was made in the church yard. D.T. Carmichael Funeral Director in charge."

CORRECTIONS!

Mrs. JoAnn R. Rice of Orlando, FL has asked your editor to make the following corrections which appeared in her article, titled "ANDREW JACKSON TINGLE". They were printed in Vol. 2 - No. 4, Summer edition 1989, on pp. 10 and 11 of our family newsletter. Here they are:

1. NATHANIEL TINGLE was born 22 December 1795 in Fayette County, KY. Not January
2. He first married Sally Jones in ¹⁸²²1722 in Lexington, Fayette County, KY.
3. His second wife was Elizabeth YOUNG, whom he married in 1824, Woodford Co., KY. Also, Elizabeth appears to have been the mother of the first six children. Elizabeth died in 1837, and was buried in Mercer County, KY.
4. Nathaniel then married SARAH R. WHTENACK, in 1839, Mercer Co., KY. Sarah became the mother of six more children, one of which became my great-grandfather, DAVID OWEN TINGLE.
